Our Story...

After working together on projects and a 20+ year friendship, Wayne Viener (Viener Consulting) and Neil Agate (4Gates) have put their respective decades of experience together to form VIENER4GATES (V4G).

Viener has always focused on the management and structured side of the IT world while Agate has focused on the ever-changing software and internet side of the same IT world. While both have worked with hundreds of clients (sometimes together) they have both seen the value that the other can bring to their clients and realized that to help their clients' businesses grow they need to provide a wide array of technical and business services. V4G represents the perfect combination of business process, software development, technical support and accounting know-how to get the job done for mid-sized businesses and organizations.

Neil Agate has a wealth of knowledge around computer system design, "as business evolves in this digital age, you need to be able to do so many things. You need websites and accounting systems to talk to each other. You need to have great tech support and you also need to be able to run 24x7. V4G allows your business to do all of that and more."

Wayne Viener has been looking for the "one thing that really makes a good business great. And right now, that is being able to get your branding, marketing, business systems and people all going in the same direction. And we can help do that for your business. It is what you need to win in today's complex marketplace."

With great partners like Microsoft, NCR and Lenovo; V4G is looking to grow in the Maryland/DC metro market and nationally.
